2) Entry Verification:

Patrick Hagan has the primary responsibility for the data management. Our meteorological information is sampled every 5 seconds by each instrument on the station and stored in a Campbell Scientific CR10X datalogger. The data is output in 3 arrays: array 15 stores 15min average, max, and minimum values; array 60 stores hourly average, max, and minimum values; and array 144 stores daily average, max, and minimum values. The CDMO datalogger program (NERR_4.CSI) is loaded into the CR10X and controls the sensors. This system interfaces with the Campbell Scientific PC208W software.

Data is uploaded to a PC on a weekly basis and saved on a raw data file that is backed up on a separate drive as well as the CDMO ftp site. Raw comma delimited files (.dat) produced by PC208 are pre processed in Excel with a CDMO developed EQWin macro which is used to properly format the files with header columns, station codes, date, (mm, dd, yyyy), as well as format the data to the correct number of decimal places. The pre-processed file is then copied into the EQWin weather.eqi file where the data are QA/QC checked and archived in a database. EQWin queries, reports, and graphs are used to discover data set outliers (values falling outside the measurement capabilities of the instruments) and large changes in data. EQWin generates statistics, graphs, custom queries, and reports as well as cross referencing with water data. Finally the data is sent to the CDMO. Anomalous data is noted in the anomalous/suspect data section below. Any corrections that were performed and noted in the deleted data section below.

The most common errors/anomalies for 2004 were:

- 1) Related temperature and relative humidity inaccuracies.
- 2) Relative humidity readings over 100%
- 3) Negative PAR readings.

In all cases all errors/anomalies were double checked with other regional meteorological data. In 2004 corrections were performed on temperature/relative humidity data due to a malfunctioning sensor that outputs both of these readings. However given the +/- 3% accuracy of the relative humidity sensor, anything above 100% and below 104% is within range and represents 100% true. Due to an aging sensor values over 103% were recorded as well. Although noted in the anomalous data section these values were kept as they likely represent 100% humidity circumstances. In addition to this negative PAR readings were kept as they were within the range of the sensors accuracy and since they were all recorded at night obviously represent a value of zero. Finally the hourly and daily averages, maximums, and minimums for any time the system or a particular sensor was powered down was removed due to loss of 5-second data related to those events.

3) Research objectives:

The principal objectives are to record meteorological information for the Sapelo Island NERR's site that can be used 1) as a reference for meteorological data for research projects on the reserve, 2) to give meteorological context for our half hourly SWMP water quality data, and other long term environmental monitoring projects at the Reserve, 3) to observe and characterize important events such as storms, heat and cold waves, droughts, and heavy rainfalls, and 4) to detect trends and characterize climate variability over the long-term

4) Research methods:

The Campbell Scientific weather station samples every 5 seconds continuously throughout the year. These data are used by the CR10X 15 minute averages, maximums, and minimums (array 15), hourly averages, maximums, and minimums (array 60), and daily averages, maximums, and minimums (array 144) of air temperature, relative humidity, barometric pressure, rainfall, wind speed, wind direction, and solar radiation. In 2004 data was downloaded on a weekly basis and promptly checked over.

Sensors on the weather station are inspected monthly for damage or debris. The rain gauge tends to collect debris and is checked more regularly, particularly before and after major rain events. Sensors are removed for calibration annually or biannually depending on the sensor. Also, data downloaded on site is checked against a Kestrel 4000 and an offshore NOAA buoy station to assure accurate readings.

5) Site location and character:

The site is located at N 31deg 25.068', W 081deg 17.721', about 15 feet above sea level. All sensors are mounted on a 10m-aluminum tower located in the northern corner of the Marsh Landing parking lot on the southwest corner of the island. It is bordered with salt marsh to the north and south with transition into pine forest occurring 1/2 mi to the east. On the immediate west lies the Duplin River and the ferry dock which is also the location of our lower Duplin and Marsh Landing Water Quality sampling sites. The station is well exposed to all winds and weather with practically no blockage.

This region is subject to multiple severe weather phenomena partially due to the proximity to the ocean. These phenomena include severe summer thunderstorms, which can cause drastic, localized drops in pressure, temperature, and heavy rains; powerful fall and winter frontal systems carrying prolonged strong winds (usually NNE), drastic and sudden drops in temperature and pressure, and long, steady rains; and of course the late summer and early fall hurricanes (which we had several brushes with this year). It must be noted that due to the remote location and proximity to the ocean our weather patterns can vary greatly from those on the mainland, particularly temperatures which tend to moderate due to being surrounded by water. The nearest sites for comparison is the Grays Reef NOAA weather Buoy located about 20nm east of Sapelo Island and Glynco airport located approx. 30 mi to the SSE.

6) Data Collection Period:

The data collection period for 2004 ran from Jan 1, 2004 @21:30 to Dec 31, 2004 @ 00:00 (24:00)

8) Associated research

Sapelo Island has a long history of maintaining research. In 1953, the University of Georgia Marine Institute (UGAMI) was formed and the island became a working laboratory for many. The research continues today with SAP NERR and UGAMI creating a unique partnership with much of the current research being done facilitated by SAP NERR and UGAMI together. Given UGAMI's long history on Sapelo, a bibliographic list of over 800 articles of current and previous research can be found on the UGAMI website:

<http://www.uga.edu/ugami> and on the Sapelo Island NERR site:
<http://www.sapelonerr.org>.

11) Anomalous/suspect/missing data

Arrays:

During 2022 all pre-2007 weather data were revisited by the CDMO. Historically those datasets included 15 minute, hourly (60), and daily data arrays (144). As directed by the NERRS Data Management Committee, the CDMO removed the hourly and daily data arrays leaving only the 15 minute data to make the entire NERRS SWMP weather dataset consistent in its reporting. All references to the 60 and 144 arrays were left in the metadata document as they may still provide valuable information, but users should be aware that they are largely no longer relevant. The updated datasets were uploaded to the database and made available through the various data applications at www.nerrsdata.org/get/landing.cfm throughout the fall of 2022.

- 1) 15 min sample rainfall amount differences of over 5mm in 15 min can occur during storms and indicates intense ppt bursts during thunderstorms or frontal passages.
- 2) Relative humidity differences greater than 25% on 15min are not unusual with frontal passages and wind shifts.
- 3) Air temp differences between 15 min samples greater than 3 deg are not unusual with frontal passages, thunderstorms, and wind shifts.
- 4) Intense extra-tropical cyclones and hurricanes that often affect the regional barometric pressure to values below 980mb are not uncommon, epically in late summer, fall, and spring months.

Anamolous and suspect data:

Relative Humidity:

We had problems with our relative humidity sensor reading above 100%. 103% is considered within range and can be considered 100% true. The readings above 103% are listed below; they were left in the final data set and are assumed to be 100% true.

Total Precipitation Outliers

These are rain events that showed more than 5mm in a 15 minute interval. All samples were kept as summer and tropical storms may produce these results plus it is possible for the bucket to become clogged (birds) only to unclog itself during a rain event and as a result drop a large amount of water at once. This still represents rain that fell.

12) Deleted data

Arrays:

During 2022 all pre-2007 weather data were revisited by the CDMO. Historically those datasets included 15 minute, hourly (60), and daily data arrays (144). As directed by the NERRS Data Management Committee, the CDMO removed the hourly and daily data arrays leaving only the 15 minute data to make the entire NERRS SWMP weather dataset consistent in its reporting. All references to the 60 and 144 arrays were left in the metadata document as they may still provide valuable information, but users should be aware that they are largely no longer relevant. The updated datasets were uploaded to the database and made available through the various data applications at www.nerrsdata.org/get/landing.cfm throughout the fall of 2022.

All relative humidity and temperature data from the date of 04/07/04 (day 98) beginning with array 15 at 10:30 to 05/14/04 (day 135), array 15 at 09:15 was removed due to a malfunctioning sensor. The following hourly totals at 10:00 as well as the daily totals for 05/14/04 were removed.

The station was powered down from 04/07/04 (day 98) array 15, at 10:30 until 04/08/04 (day 99) array 15 at 11:00 for service. The hourly totals at 11:00 and daily totals were removed.

Erroneous RH values were removed from the data on 8/19/04 array 15, at 11:30 array 60 at 12:00 and array 144 at 24:00. Reason for erroneous values unknown, most likely RH sensor malfunction.

The station was powered down from 8/23/04 (day 237) array 15, at 11:00 until 08/24/04 (day 238) array 15, at 08:30 for recalibration of the RH sensor. The back up RH sensor was installed on 08/24/04 at 08:30. The hourly totals at 09:00 and the daily totals were removed.

Erroneous Temperature and RH data were recorded on 8/24/04 at 08:45 probably due to the installation of the new RH sensor, and were also removed from the data set.

The temp/humidity probe was removed 5 minutes for cleaning on 08/31/04 (day 244) array 15 at 11:30. The following 12:00 hourly and daily totals were removed for those parameters.

The temp/humidity probe was replaced with another unit on 09/23/04 (day 267) array 15 at 09:15. The following hourly totals at 10:00 and the daily totals were removed for those parameters.

- 1) When the CR10X is powered down or the program reloaded all temporary 5sec data is lost and will cause the day's average, maximum, and minimum calculations to be off. Therefore these values are deleted.
- 2) Data can be absent due to an instrument failure.

14) Other remarks:

On 10/15/2023 this dataset was updated to include embedded QAQC flags for anomalous/suspect data. System-wide monitoring data beginning in 2007 were processed to allow for QAQC flags and codes to be embedded in the data files rather than detailed in the metadata alone (as in the anomalous/suspect, deleted, and missing data sections above). Prior to 2007, rejected data were deleted from the dataset so they are unavailable to be used at all, but suspect data were only noted in the metadata document. Suspect data flags <1> were embedded retroactively in order to allow suspect data to be easily identified and filtered from the dataset if desired for analysis and reporting purposes. No other flags or codes were embedded in the dataset and users should still refer to the detailed explanations above for more information.

Precipitation:

During the initial years of NERRS SWMP weather data collection the CR10X programming was inconsistent in how precipitation values were recorded. For most reserves, zeros were not recorded when rainfall had not occurred between 2001-2003, instead no rainfall was represented by a blank cell. The CDMO verified which datasets were impacted by this issue for the 2001-2006 datasets and inserted zeros when the metadata indicated that no precipitation occurred and data were not missing for other reasons. In some cases, zero values for precipitation data were evaluated and removed where the metadata confirmed that no rainfall should have been in the dataset. The pre-2007 data did not go through a thorough QAQC process again at that time (in addition to previous QAQC); however, if discrepancies were noticed between what was documented in the metadata and what was in the dataset, additional updates may have been made. The updated datasets were uploaded to the database and made available through the various data applications at www.nerrsdata.org/get/landing.cfm throughout early 2023.

We had a very active hurricane season and were affected in July by Alex, in August by Bonnie, Charley, Francis, and Gaston and finally in September we saw Ivan and Jeanne. Also on 4/13 we had a fairly extreme microburst with winds gusts up to 15.9m/s (that one caught us a bit off guard!)
